Working Norms

Monk-E operates with a hybrid working model. Employees are expected to be reachable during agreed core collaboration hours and to maintain clear calendar visibility for cross-functional work.

Managers are responsible for setting team-level expectations without creating department-specific rules that conflict with company policy.

Leave and Time Off

Employees should submit planned leave through the designated HR workflow. For urgent absence, the manager should be informed as soon as reasonably possible and the HR record updated afterward.

Public holidays follow the annual company holiday calendar. Location-specific statutory holidays may be added where required.

Performance and Growth

Performance reviews occur twice annually with quarterly goal check-ins. Reviews consider outcomes, scope, collaboration, reliability, and demonstrated ownership.

Career progression requires evidence of sustained impact at the next level rather than tenure alone.

Workplace Conduct

Employees must maintain professional conduct, respect confidentiality, and use company systems for legitimate business purposes. Concerns can be raised through People Operations or the designated reporting channels.
